Valente Reading Garden

JUDY KENSLEY MCKIE has created three bronze benches in the shape of alley cats - fitting creatures for an urban reading garden. (Commissioned by the Cambridge Arts Council's Public Art
Program.)

Donnelly Field Tot Lot

JAY COOGAN has extended the artwork he created inside the Frisoli Youth Center (1998) to reach into the adjacent playground. Sculptural dogs and cats become part of the playground activity, and a mural of a frog defines the waterplay area. (Commissioned by the Cambridge Arts Council's Public Art Program.)

The Valente Branch Library is located at 826 Cambridge Street, at the corner of Berkshire Street. The Donnelly Field Tot Lot is at 61 Willow Street, in front of the Frisoli Youth Center. Dedications are supported by the Cambridge Arts Council, Community Development Department, and Department of Public Works.
